If a player receives five penalties in a game, they will be thrown out for the remainder of that game.

A game misconduct, including fighting, will be an automatic disqualification from the tournament, plus that player's team will be given a major penalty. No player will have to service this penalty, but must play short handed for the five minutes.

- Major Penalty: Five-minutes
- Misconduct Penalty: Ten Minutes

Winners will be determined using the following criteria:

2. Head-to-Head
3. Most goals scored
4. Least goals allowed
5. Least penalty minutes

After the final game of round robin play, all points shall be tallied up as listed above. After the round robin, the team with the most points will play the team with the least points. The middle two teams will play each other. Winners advance to finals. Losers play each other for third and fourth place.

Pregame: All players must be prepared to be on the ice fifteen minutes prior to the scheduled start of their game time.

Injuries: In the event of an injury, the medic will be called onto the ice and/or the player’s bench. It is the job of the medic to determine if an ambulance should be called, as well as if the player can continue to play. All players must show proof of Israeli medical insurance before they will be allowed to begin the tournament.

If the injury was the result of a penalty, the penalized player will be thrown out for the remainder of the game, and the penalized players team will be assessed a major penalty. Nobody has to serve this penalty, but they will play short-handed.

Officials: The on-ice official(s) will have the final say in any decision during a game. A decision by the official cannot be overturned.

The tournament will be using either a two-man or three-man officiating system.
